FUND MANAGER'S COMMENTS

The Fund gained 1.39% during the month of September 2016, underperforming the benchmark which gained 2.29%. Stock selection in the underlying Europe funds contributed negatively. YTD, the Fund fell 4.00% while the benchmark remained flat at 0.04%.

September was dominated by G3 central bank meetings. The European Central Bank (ECB) left policy rates unchanged and did not extend its asset purchase programme, pushing yields higher and markets down. On 21 September, the Bank of Japan (BoJ) committed to expand the monetary base while keeping purchases at the same level, and introducing Quantitative and Qualitative easing (QQE) with yield curve control. Meanwhile, the US Federal Reserve stayed on hold but stated the case for a rate increase had strengthened.

We expect at least one rate hike in the US this year as the Federal Reserve reiterated that the stance of monetary policy remains accommodative. A strong yen is likely to cap any upside for the Japanese equity market.
