In a statement, BNM said that the monetary policy stance remains supportive of the economy and is consistent with the current assessment of inflation and growth prospects.

Malaysia’s GDP expanded by 5.3% yoy in 3Q2024 but slowed from 5.9% in 2Q24 (18-month high). Growth was largely driven by strength in investment activities linked to investment projects (+15.3%, up from +11.5% in 2Q) and exports (+11.8%, up from +8.4% in 2Q) as well as household spending. However, private consumption growth slowed to +4.8% (from +6.0% in 2Q). The 3Q figure was in line with the advanced estimate of 5.3% reported by the statistics department in October. For the first nine months of 2024, Malaysia’s economic growth was 5.2%, compared to a 3.8% growth in the same period last year, putting the country on track to achieve the government’s official forecast range of 4.8-5.3% for 2024.

Malaysia’s headline inflation rose slightly to 1.9% year-on-year (yoy) in October from 1.8% in September, not exceeding 2% for the 15th consecutive month. Inflation was primarily driven by higher prices in food and beverages (up 2.3%), personal care, social protection, and miscellaneous goods and services (up 3.4%). Core inflation remained steady at 1.8% yoy in October (September: 1.8%).

Malaysia’s unemployment rate remained stable at 3.2% in September (August: 3.2%), marking the lowest level since January 2020, and generally considered a level of full employment according to the Department of Statistics Malaysia.
