FUND MANAGER'S COMMENTS

In December, the Fund rose 1.45% underperforming the benchmark by 0.72ppt as the Islamic index rebounded 4.2% in US$ terms during the month, led by Korea and Taiwan while China and Singapore posted losses.

While global economic activity is expected to take a pause due to the Omicron variant, the negative impact may be short lived as initial data has shown that while highly transmissible, the cases are less severe than the Delta variant. As more countries in Asia approach herd immunity in 2022, economic and business activity should normalize further and huge disruptions such as lockdowns seen in prior years should be averted.

After a much self-inflicted slowdown in the economy in 2021, China has started to show signs of easing with a reduction in the reserve requirement ratio and loan prime rate in December. While early to turn positive, the market keenly await more signs of economic stimulation and less regulatory intervention in key sectors such as technology.

We are fully invested and plan to diversify our holdings across businesses to improve our portfolio's resilience. Our recent purchases include electric vehicle and supply chain related, fabless semiconductor and med-tech company. We funded these purchases from trimming selected stocks where growth durability is lacking. Off-benchmark stocks contribute ~45% to our holdings.

RISKS

All investment carries some form of risks. The potential key risks include but are not limited to the following:

|--|---|
| Market risk | Market risk refers to the possibility that an investment will lose value because of a general decline in financial markets, due to economic, political and/or other factors, which will result in a decline in the target fund's NAV. |
| Inflation risk | This is the risk that your investment in the target fund may not grow or generate income at a rate that keeps pace with inflation. This would reduce your purchasing power even though the value of the investment in monetary terms has increased. |
| Manager's Risk | This risk refers to the day-to-day management of the target fund by Principal which will impact the performance of the target fund. For example, investment decisions undertaken by Principal, as a result of an incorrect view of the market or any non-compliance with internal policies, investment mandate, the deed, relevant law or guidelines due to factors such as human error or weaknesses in operational process and systems, may adversely affect the performance of the target fund. |
| Reclassification of Shariah status risk | This risk refers to the risk that the currently held Shariah-compliant securities in the target fund may be reclassified as Shariah non-compliant in the periodic review of the securities by the Shariah Advisory Council of the Securities Commission Malaysia (SACSC), Shariah adviser of the issuer, the Shariah Adviser or the Shariah boards of the relevant Islamic indices. If this occurs, Principal will take the necessary steps to dispose of such securities. There may be opportunity loss to the target fund due to the target fund not being allowed to retain the excess gains derived from the disposal of the Shariah non-compliant securities. In the event that the Shariah non-compliant securities are disposed of at a price lower than the investment cost, it may adversely affect the value of the target fund. Thus, it may cause the NAV of the target fund or price of units to fall. |
| Risk associated with investing in Islamic CIS | Since the target fund will invest entirely into Islamic CIS, there is a risk of concentration into Islamic CIS, in which the Islamic CIS's management company has absolute discretion over the Islamic CIS's investment technique and knowledge, operational controls and management. In the event of mismanagement of the Islamic CIS and/or the management company, the NAV of the target fund, which invests into those Islamic CIS would be affected negatively. Should the situation arise, Principal will seek for another Islamic CIS that is consistent with the objective of the target fund. |
| Country risk | The target fund may invest into Islamic CIS which can be domiciled in various countries. Therefore, the target fund will be subjected to risks specific to the countries in which the Islamic CIS are domiciled. Such risks include adverse changes in economic fundamentals, social and political stability, laws and regulations and foreign investments policies. These factors may have an adverse impact on the price of the Islamic CIS, which will depress the Islamic CIS's NAV growth, and consequently depress the target fund's NAV growth. |

RISKS (CONTINUED)

Currency risk

As the target fund may invest into Islamic CIS denominated in currencies other than MYR, any fluctuation in the exchange rate between MYR and the currencies in which the Islamic CIS are denominated may have an impact on the value of these investments. You should be aware that if the currencies in which the Islamic CIS are denominated depreciate against MYR, this will have an adverse effect on the NAV of the target fund in MYR and vice versa. You should note that any gains or losses arising from the fluctuation in the exchange rate may further increase or decrease the returns of the investment
