FUND MANAGER'S COMMENTS

- US equities stormed into a bull market in June as fervour surrounding artificial intelligence (AI) and hopes of a Fed pause fuelled market gains. The S&P 500 index climbed 6.50% buoyed by optimism that inflation has topped out and that the US Federal Reserve (Fed) is closer to the tail-end of its tightening cycle.
- The recent US consumer price index (CPI) print came below expectations increasing just 0.1% m-o-m. However, core inflation remained sticky rising 0.4% for the month and 5.3% from a year ago respectively. Following the CPI print, the Fed held interest rates unchanged at its FOMC meeting in June. In his press conference, Fed Chair Jerome Powell said that there were encouraging signs that inflation was trending downwards, but did not rule out further rate hikes.
- On the domestic front, the local market was subdued with the benchmark KLCI closing 0.75% lower as persistent foreign selling put pressure on the index. A weaker Ringgit and political uncertainty also dampened market sentiment as investors stay on the side-lines.
- Nevertheless, there have been significant developments in the political landscape as all 6 outstanding states have recently announced the dissolution of their respective State Assembly paving the way for state polls. The Election Commission (EC) recently announced that polling date would fall on the 12 August. We can expect greater political clarity on the stability of the unity government and policy continuity once elections are concluded.
- On corporate news, Sime Darby Bhd and its joint venture partner, Ramsay Health Care Limited announced that they were looking to sell their interests in Ramsay Sime Darby Health Care Sdn Bhd (RSD). However share price reaction to the news was muted as this is the second attempt in securing a deal.

STRATEGY:

- Amidst temporary setback in the local market landscape, the fund outperformed the benchmark during the month of June. Weak ringgit is driving outflows and affecting sentiment, with recently announced Madani measures is still insufficient to boost market. Holistically, the portfolio will be positioned defensively amid election uncertainty and we are hopeful to see more meaningful policy implementation post-election.
- We are positive on a few key themes such as reopening sectors and trade divergence where we anticipate an increase in Foreign Direct Investments ("FDI") in local market due to the ongoing United States of America ("US") and China tension which gave opportunities to regional sectors like Malaysian tech stocks to strive for better valuation. With our defensive tilt, we have also positioned our portfolio in the healthcare sector, which is less sensitive to an economic slowdown, supported by an expected rebound in earnings.
- The fund's cash level increased from 15%% to approximately 20%. Transaction wise, the Fund was net seller during the month of June.
- Notable purchase during the month was JHM Consolidation, a Malaysia-based holding company operates Electronics & Mechanical Manufacturing Services solutions provider delivering customized solutions to various sectors such as automotive, industrial, aerospace and medical devices sectors.
- We also selectively added exposure into solar players ahead of an expected renewable energy ("RE") export blueprint which could catalyse growth in the sector.

RISKS

All investment carries some form of risks. The potential key risks include but are not limited to the following:

Market risk	Market risk arises because of factors that affect the entire marketplace. Factors such as economic growth, political stability and social environment are some examples of conditions that have an impact on businesses, whether positive or negative. Market risk cannot be eliminated by diversification. It stems from the fact that there are economy-wide perils which threaten all businesses. Hence, investors will be exposed to market uncertainties and no matter how many Shariah-compliant securities are held, fluctuations in the economic, political and social environment will affect the market price of the Shariah-compliant investments either in a positive or negative way.
Fund management risk	This risk refers to the day-to-day management of the target fund by Affin Hwang which will impact the performance of the target fund. For example, investment decisions undertaken by Affin Hwang as a result of an incorrect view of the market or any non-compliance with internal policies, investment mandate, the deed, relevant law or guidelines due to factors such as human error, fraudulence, dishonesty or weaknesses in operational process and systems, may adversely affect the performance of the target fund.
Performance risk	There is no guarantee in relation to the investment returns.
Inflation risk	This is the risk that your investment in the target fund may not grow or generate income at a rate that keeps pace with inflation. This would reduce your purchasing power even though the value of the investment in monetary terms has increased.
Liquidity risk	Liquidity risk arises in two scenarios. The first scenario is where the target fund's investment cannot be sold due to unavailability of a buyer for that investment. The second scenario exists where the target fund's investment, by its nature, is thinly traded. This will have the effect of causing the target fund's investment to be sold below its fair value which would adversely affect the NAV of the target fund.
Credit/Default risk	Credit risk relates to the creditworthiness of the issuers of the investment (Islamic money market instruments) and their expected ability to make timely payment of interest and/or principal. Any adverse situations faced by the issuers may impact the value as well as liquidity of the investment. In the case of rated investments, this may lead to a credit downgrade. Default risk relates to the risk of an issuer of the investment either defaulting on payments or failing to make payments in a timely manner which will in turn adversely affect the value of the investment. This could adversely affect the value of the target fund.
Equity investment risk	This is the risk associated with investing in a particular equity. The value of individual equity is mainly determined by its potential growth in earnings, sound management, and treatment of minority shareholders, as well as a myriad of other factors. Failure to achieve these would result in declining investment value which in turn affects the performance of the target fund. This can be mitigated by diversifying the target fund's portfolios.

RISKS (CONTINUED)

Reclassification of Shariah status risk

This risk refers to the risk that the currently held Shariah-compliant securities by the target fund may be reclassified to be Shariah non-compliant in the periodic review of the equities by the Shariah Advisory Council of the Securities Commission Malaysia (SACSC), the Shariah Adviser for the target fund or the Shariah boards of the relevant Islamic indices.

If this occurs, Affin Hwang will take the necessary steps to dispose of such equities. There may be opportunity loss to the target fund due to the target fund not being allowed to retain the excess capital gains derived from the disposal of the Shariah non-compliant equities. Affin Hwang will be required to dispose of these equities immediately if the prices are above the purchase price. Should the prices be below the purchase price, Affin Hwang may choose to hold on to these holdings until the prices meet the purchase price. Nevertheless, should Affin Hwang decide to dispose of these equities below the purchase price, the target fund will be faced with the risk of realising its losses, thus negatively impacting the NAV of the target fund.

Shariah-compliant warrants investment risk

The value of the Shariah-compliant warrants (“warrants”) will depend on the pricing of the underlying security whereby the growth and performance prospect of the underlying security would consequentially affect the value of the warrants. In addition, the value of the warrants may decrease exponentially as the warrants approach its maturity date and the potential gains from a favourable price movement of the underlying security may be offset by aggressive time decay. Affin Hwang may consider unwinding these warrants if there are material adverse changes to its value with the aim to mitigate the risk.
