FUND MANAGER'S COMMENTS

- Global equities rose in most currencies in August as record highs in Wall Street more than offset weakness in most markets. The S&P 500 index also recorded its longest bull run in history, supported by earnings growth and a US dollar that continued to strengthen on the Federal Reserve's assurance of monetary policy normalisation. Meanwhile, the second round of mutual tariffs between US and China on US$16 million took effect, and both countries threatened to slap on even more duties against the other. Amid the rising rhetoric, investors found relief, albeit only briefly, in low-level trade talks between US and China which subsequently ended in stalemate, as well as limited progress in a North America free-trade deal.
- Across the Atlantic, trade tensions weighed on carmakers. In the UK, resources stocks suffered a sell-off, sparked by worries about the outlook for global growth and falling demand. Elsewhere, continued strength in the US dollar pressured emerging markets equities and currencies, while oil prices advanced amid signs of tighter supply and a sharper-than-expected decline in US inventory levels.
- In corporate news, US discount retailer TJX rose after its revenues were buoyed by higher customer traffic and it boosted its full-year outlook. Singtel, the largest telecom operator in Southeast Asia, saw quarterly net profits slip on fierce competition in some markets, along with adverse currency movement.
- We exited Brenntag after it recovered its original book value. Against this, we initiated VAT Group following its approval as an off-benchmark Shariah-compliant securities; the Swiss vacuum valve-maker has a high-quality industrials business positioned in structurally growing end-markets.
- We took advantage of the recent share-price weakness to add to Tencent and Epiroc. We also topped up Bayer to our preferred exposure following recent share-price weakness after an adverse court decision against weed killers made by Monsanto, which it recently acquired. We believe the fine will likely be reduced on appeal given past cases of this nature.
